Australian Range Fragrant Oils

These oils are up to a hundred times stronger than perfume and can be diluted with oils such as olive, avocado or sweet almond, or in alcohol such as vodka. The Australian Range Fragrant Oils can be used as personal perfumes, to scent rooms and sachets, make candles or soaps, and to refresh pot pourris. They are very long lasting. Some are available in 100ml bottles, with prices on request.

We are known for and are very particular about quality (we use our own products!) and have been buying and selling world wide for 30 years. As we are at the mercy of world markets, availability and price may fluctuate. Oils are dependant on crops and fragrances may vary slightly from season to season.
